SPECIFIC BEQUESTS OF PROPERTY
In many situations a person tells family members how (s)he wants the personal property divided. Generally, these items are not specifically mentioned in the will. This leaves you free to create a separate list that you may change whenever you like without having to rewrite your will. You can use the will to make a specific bequest if you are concerned your wishes will not be honored. A specific bequest may also be appropriate if you intend to leave an item to a nonfamily member.
9. Please indicate the specific item(s) you want distributed and the name of the person(s) to whom you are leaving the item(s).
10. PETS. If you have pets you may want to consider what happens to them after your death. You may want to provide that a specific individual cares for your pets. In that situation, you may want to provide a specific monetary bequest to that person for the care of the pet.

BENEFICIARIES OF YOUR ESTATE

Please think about who you want to name to inherit your estate. You must also consider who will inherit the balance of your property (after the personal representative distributes the specific bequests, if any). Example: Do you want everything to go to your spouse or partner? If you have children, do you want to provide for them? Grandchildren? Other family members? Do you want everyone to receive equal shares?

GUARDIANSHIP OF MINOR CHILDREN

If you have children under the age of 18 you need to consider naming a guardian. Natural parents have priority in these matters. You can name someone to be the guardian of the person and of the estate. If you do not name a guardian, and there is no other natural parent, the probate court will appoint one for any minor child(ren).
